-John Straatmann with new pup (purchased 11/27) "Evalyn" Great Dane Blue merle female 3 months old Presented to Animal Care Clinic for concerns of jaw maybe broken. Owner unable to get around dogs mouth until 12/6 and was able to feel a knot on the jaw bone and seen missing teeth.

Owner stated breeder said mother had bitten pup and was checked at vet. and was fine to give antibiotics. Breeder sent plastic bag with Cephalexin 1x day. No straight or correct doses or name on it. only Cephalexin 1x day =

Physical Exam dog was very protective of jaw unable to see in mouth. but was able to palpate mandible on lt side and felt a calcification area of bone that was painful. due to this I Radiograph Dog's jaw - Diagnosis was Broken mandible with calcification going on. Due to this my opinion bone calcification and healing would be 2 to 4 wks. Owner has had this pup for 10 days at presentation.
