Invoice Note

Please note:

The LOMA Group and LOMA Automotive Design LLC fully acknowledge the challenges shipping companies face, particularly in light of recent disruptions caused by lockdowns, natural disasters, and other factors beyond our control. We are also aware that shipping problems may arise due to shortages of supply caused by war situations, sanctions, embargos, or any other disturbances in production and transportation services.

While we remain fully committed to providing high-quality products and will make every effort to ensure fast shipping and production times, we understand that shipping costs may rise unexpectedly in some cases. To address this issue, LOMA is covering up to 20% more on shipping costs in cases they rise without asking the customer to repay the balance. However, please note that due to the pandemic and war situations currently, many shipping companies have gone bankrupt, and the remaining ones have periodically increased prices by up to 800%. In such cases, LOMA will and cannot cover the balance and will try to find a better option to save shipping costs, or if necessary, cover 20% more by itself just to fulfill the order of its customer. If neither option is possible, LOMA reserves the right to wait until the shipping prices come back to a normal and acceptable level.

It should be noted that cancellations for items that are in stock and where the shipping process has already been organized and paid for are not possible after 14 days. Cancellations for custom-made items are not possible after 7 days. Additionally, cancellations are not possible due to government decisions or lost items.

By making payment, you agree to our terms and conditions, cancellation policy, and data protection policies. The LOMA Group and LOMA Automotive Design LLC reserve the right to update these policies periodically to ensure compliance with applicable laws and regulations.
