To Who It May Concern,

When looking over the window sales contract from Champion for Jessica Deluca's windows, the contract shows a custom grid pattern for the top window sash, which outlines a single horizontal grid design. When I visited with Mrs. Deluca, she showed me the installed windows. It has one vertical and one horizontal grid in the top sash. The installed window also has a cracked windowpane and what would be a sharp, jagged edge lifting rail that looks like it had been busted at some point prior to installation.
