

Okay

Friends and family only

I don't have any way to get a refund if I do it that way.

You need to have no worries because we are legit

We are just avoiding the high tax and fee on our end that's why we are doing family and friends

Hope you understand

We have been doing business for 25 years now

I know why you are doing it. It just provides the buyer no way to get a refund if you are not who you say you are. That is the risk.

I'd rather pay you the tax difference in increased price than do that.
