I have sent emails and messages through Shop where I made my purchase on July 13, but you have continuously ignored me. At this point all I can do is blast you all over the Internet and Amazon since I have your product and you are selling your defective products on their website.

Refund request

Good day,

I received my order yesterday. I fully charged it for several hours until all three charging lines were completely charged. Today, July 14, 2024, I made several attempts to inflate my tire. I turned the machine on, I set to psi level and power flow button, I pressed power button again to start air pressure and the machine would cut off after a few seconds. I made multiple attempts, kept reading the instruction manual and trying over and over. I need to return this for a
